

2020 Annual Fund Donors

This year, as so many other organizations faced difficult decisions to reduce funding, we were able to continue to make a significant investment in hepatology's future, thanks only to the generous AASLD

Foundation donors and supporters. Annual fund donations, coupled with those of our visionary Tomorrow's Cures campaign donors (conducted between August 2017 and August 2019), have helped to make this year's Awards and Foundation initiatives possible.

With the support of the AASLD Foundation Advanced/Transplant Hepatology Award, I will conduct a pilot randomized controlled trial assessing the feasibility and preliminary efficacy of an advance care planning video decision support tool for advanced liver disease patients. This project will set the stage for a future multi-site trial to demonstrate the effectiveness of this decision support tool in improving the quality of end-of-life care for patients with advanced liver disease who are ineligible for liver transplantation.

This award provides necessary support to focus on basic scientific investigation and the research funding for me to be able to execute a higher-risk, high-reward project, which I anticipate will provide the data to successfully compete for independent funding and to begin a human clinical trial. It keeps alive a decades-long dream: to make basic discoveries in the realm of liver metabolism, obesity, and NAFLD to improve human health. I send my heartfelt appreciation to AASLD Foundation and its donors for this gift of discovery.
